

The Heart of Hope Story

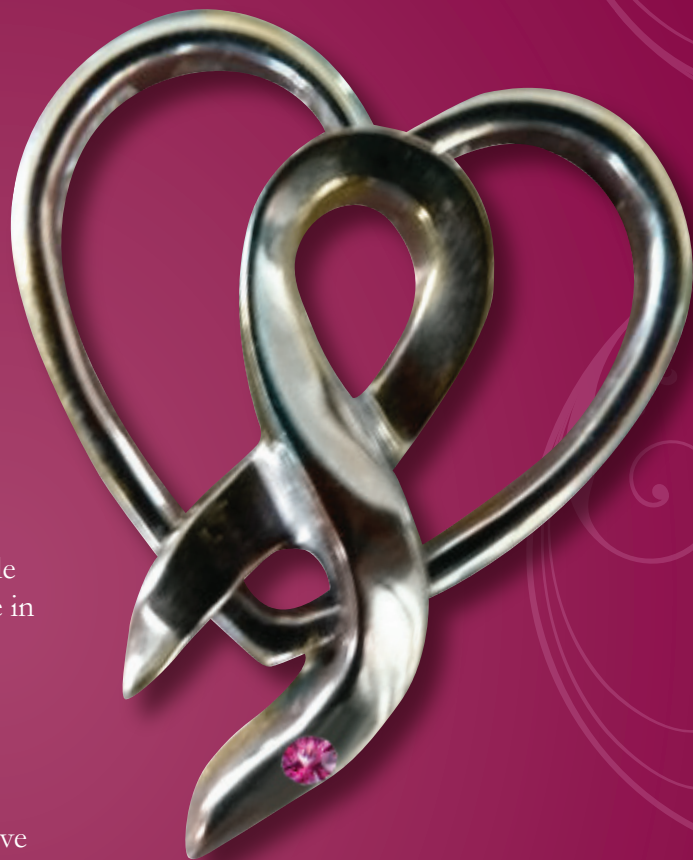

Throughout my battle with breast cancer, I was unconditionally loved, supported and encouraged by my family, friends, and thousands of women before me who have been affected by this terrible disease. It is because of this amazing network of inspiring people that I had the strength to fight and the faith to believe in my survival. I could not have done this alone.

This Heart of Hope pendant expresses my immeasurable gratitude and thanks to those around me, and it serves as a symbol of the power of love and unity. Together, there is hope and comfort for all us who have been diagnosed with, or who have felt the affects of breast cancer. No one walks this path alone. Where there is faith, there are Angels.

May God bless you all, as I have been blessed.
